PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Product Owner with experience turning complex problems into clear, high-impact products. I work at the intersection of business, users, and technology, prioritizing what generates value and guiding cross-functional teams to align strategy and execution. I've led digital, hybrid, and in-person products and services across sectors such as healthcare, fintech, education, and sustainability, applying data analysis, systems thinking, and product vision to make informed decisions. My background in Service and UX Design enhances my ability to translate insights into actionable solutions and align business objectives with user needs.
